I HEREBY GRANT and permanently give the recordings and their contents listed below, and any transcript made of it, to the Maria Rogers Oral History Program of the Carnegie Library for Local History and the Boulder Public Library (collectively, “Boulder Public Library”), as a donation. In doing so, I understand that my name, image, and voice as well as the interview and transcripts made from the recordings may be quoted from, published in original or edited form, or broadcast in any medium that the Boulder Public Library shall deem appropriate, including but not limited to electronic with placement on the Internet, except as restricted, below.

This donation includes the transfer of copyright to the Boulder Public Library. This transfer of copyright, however, does not apply to my own use: I, the Narrator, may use the recorded interview and the information contained in it as I wish.

In making this gift, I voluntarily convey to the Boulder Public Library all legal title and literary property rights that I have or may be deemed to have in my interview, as well as all my rights, title and interest in any copyright that may be secured under the laws now or later in force and effect. As part of the transfer of copyright, I give permission for the use of the recordings and transcripts in such a manner as may best serve the historical and educational objectives of the Boulder Public Library, including but not limited to use for independent research; exhibits; archives; internet; television and radio; print media; documentary films; and other educational and scholarly uses as the directors of the Maria Rogers Oral History Program and Boulder Public Library shall determine.

I have had a chance to discuss this form with the Boulder Public Library staff and received complete answers to all my questions.
